In view of the great importance of drawing as a branch of education, the Legislature, by an Act passed May 16, 1870, made instruction in this branch obligatory in the public day schools, and required cities and towns containing more than ten thousand inhabitants to make provision for free instruction in industrial drawing to persons over fifteen years of age. This Act met with much public favor; but it was soon found that it was impossible to realize satisfactorily the benefits intended by the Act, for want of competent teachers. A Resolve was therefore passed by the Legislature providing for the establishment and maintenance of a State Normal Art School.

DESIGN OF THE SCHOOL.

This school is intended to be a training school for teachers of industrial art. The specific aim at present is to prepare instructors to teach and superintend industrial drawing in the schools of the State. It also aims to provide for high skill in technical drawing, and for industrial art culture.

The school is located at the corner of Newbury and Exeter streets, Boston.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission must be above sixteen years of age; must bring a certificate of good moral character from some well-known person in the town in which they reside ; and must be able to pass an examination in the common English branches of study, and in freehand drawing of ornament from copy.

Applicants for admission to class A must pass examinations in the following subjects : —

1. Model Drawing (outline).
2. Model Drawing (shaded).
3. Historic Ornament (outline from cast).

These examinations will be held at the beginning of each school year. Tuition is free to students residing within the State and intending to teach drawing in the public schools, but five dollars per term will be charged for incidentals. Tuition for students from without the State is fifty dollars per term. Students who have not passed through class A are not regarded as regular students of the school, and therefore are required to pay a fee of fifty dollars per term, which entitles them to enter class B, C or D, and receive class instruction in such subjects as are taught in those classes. All fees are to be paid in advance to the curator.

COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The school offers a four years' course (see class A) of training in the scientific and artistic branches and their practical application to industry, and a two years' course of training for the work of teaching and supervising drawing in the public schools. The work of class A is devoted to elementary drawing ; of class B, to painting and design for surface decoration ; of class C, to the constructive arts and design ; and of class D, to modelling and design in the round. Many of the lectures are given during the first term, and cannot be repeated during the second term. Students having completed the work of classes A and C will receive a diploma certifying that they are qualified to teach mechanical and architectural drawing; those having completed the work of classes A, B and D, one certifying to their qualifications to teach industrial art.

Having completed the work of class A, choice will be given each pupil of beginning a course of study that will fit him especially for teaching and supervising drawing in the public schools, or one that will prepare him to teach the broad subject of industrial art. The former course will cover two years' time, and will include the works of class B. A diploma will be given at its close. Those desiring to enter this class must pass examination in the following subjects: 1. English Grammar and Composition. 2. History of the United States. 3. Geography. 4. Plane Geometry. 5. Elementary Botany. 6. Elementary Physiology.

CLASS FOR THE FIGURE AND ITS INDUSTRIAL APPLICATIONS.

Students who have completed class B or D are eligible for the antique class, and will be promoted to the work from life upon proving their fitness therefor. They are required to take notes of the lectures on the figure and its decorative uses; to follow a course of reading outside of class hours, and produce at least one original design during the year.

A course of lectures on artistic anatomy will be given every second year, open to all advanced students, and followed by an examination of their note books.

CONSTRUCTION.

In view of the fact that the scientific principles involved in the constructive arts are taught in class C, each student will be required to construct one or more objects in wood from his working drawings. This exercise will show the use and application of drawing to construction.

EXAMINATIONS.

In addition to the regular certificate works, class exercises in the subjects studied during the year must be submitted, to show whether the student has acquired the knowledge and manipulative skill necessary for teaching industrial art. Students failing to pass in any subject may apply again the next year, on condition that they again perform all the regular class work required in that study.

POST-GRADUATE COURSE.

Graduated students may continue the course of study for one year, without payment of fees, on condition that, if called upon by the principal, they will devote some of their time to teaching in the school.

RECOMMENDATION FOR APPOINTMENT.

Those who may be in need of thoroughly trained teachers of drawing for the public schools, or special teachers of drawing, painting, modelling in clay and design, are requested to apply directly to the principal. All such applications will be brought to the attention of such students as are judged to be prepared to do the required work.

REGULATIONS OF THE SCHOOL.

All materials and apparatus required are to be provided by the students ; no examples for instruction can be removed from the school by them, and any damage done to the property of the school must be paid for by those causing it.

Attendance will be registered daily, and absence or tardiness must be explained to the instructors. Excuses will be granted by the principal only upon application made through the instructor of the class.

Every student will be provided with a locker, in which to keep boards and drawing materials. On receiving the key, the student must deposit one dollar as a guarantee that the key will be returned ; when this is done, the money will be refunded. Keys lost or broken by students must be replaced by them.

The only works allowed to be executed in the school are those required by the instructors to illustrate their lectures or lessons, and those on the list of certificate works.

Each instructor will require a certain amount of work to be done by the students between lectures, which must be regarded as a part of the regular school work.

Any text-book required for use or reference will be indicated by the instructor.

Students may remain in any class for two years, but having failed to complete the required work within that time, will be considered as no longer belonging to it, and can complete this course of study only as special students.

Students who have passed through class A, and whose appointments as teachers of drawing prevent their attendance at the school, upon the payment of the regular fees, and fulfilling all the requirements of any succeeding class, will be treated as if in attendance at the school.

Any certificate work which, in the opinion of the principal, does not show sufficient skill to qualify the student to teach the subject, will be rejected, and another one required.

Students are required to take the examinations and lecture work in any subject during the year in which the certificate drawing is made. In case of failure, they may present themselves for examination the next year, provided they again attend the lectures and do the required work.

Not less than one work nor more than two works from the set belonging to each student will be retained as the property of the school.

The discipline of the school is made as simple as possible; pupils are expected to govern themselves, to do without compulsion what is required, and to refrain from all improprieties of conduct; those who are unwilling to conform to the known wishes of the teachers are presumed to be improper persons to continue in the school.

All persons presenting themselves for admission to the school are judged to have read these regulations, and the signed application is considered a pledge to abide by them.

SCHOOL YEAR.

The school year of 1892-93 will begin Monday, Oct. 3, 1892, and close the last Friday in June, 1893.

The year is divided into two terms: the first comprises the months of October, November, December, January and the first half of February; the second, beginning February 27, the months of March, April, May and June.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

1. The school cannot officially recognize the fitness of students to accept positions as teachers of drawing who have merely performed the work of class A.
2. Students of the advanced classes, seeking positions as teachers, should first consult with the principal and his associate teachers as to their fitness.
3. Those students who are qualified in all particulars to take positions as teachers of drawing will be given a letter of introduction addressed to such person or persons as may be required by the student, signed by the principal and faculty.
